1:00pm – 2:00pm	New Pre-Conference, Session Breakout 1: A. Rodgers Room A. Brain Architecture Game Overview, Christy Prang, MBA A hands-on game demonstrating how early life experiences impact brain development, stress, and resilience. The Brain Architecture Game lets participants build a model brain, showing how positive and stressful events shape brain structure and long-term outcomes. Participants use cards and materials to represent protective factors and stressors, revealing the lasting effects of early experiences and the importance of support. Participants reflect on their journey, connecting the activity to real-world systems and understanding how resilience can be fostered. B. Rozier Room B. Working with Parent Attorneys as Non-Attorney Professionals, Laura Lowe, P.C. This session focuses on building collaborative partnerships between attorneys and non-attorney professionals to enhance legal representation for parents, particularly in child welfare cases. Participants learn to define roles, share strategies for gathering data, and implement team-based advocacy to protect parental rights and improve outcomes for children.	   A. Christy Prang is the Director of Training &amp; Community Engagement at BraveBe Child Advocacy Center, advocating child welfare since 2015. Trauma 101 Overview, Libby Valerio-Boster Exploring Adverse Childhood Experiences &amp; Resilience. This training provides a comprehensive exploration of Adverse Childhood Experiences (ACES), examining their impact on individuals and communities. Participants will gain a deeper understanding of the various types of ACES, their prevalence and the potential long-term consequences as well as learn strategies to promote resilience and prevent trauma. The training emphasizes the importance of wellness for professionals working with individuals impacted by ACES.	 A. Libby Valerio-Boster serves as the ACES Training Specialist at BraveBe Child Advocacy Center. She holds a degree in Community Health and Wellness and is committed to advancing awareness of Adverse Childhood Experiences (ACEs) and their implications for public health. Through research-informed training, she supports professionals &amp; communities.

B. Rozier Room	B. Strengthening Child Advocacy Through Collaboration, Investigator Lynette Russell This session will highlight how our Special Victims Unit partners across disciplines provide personalized, trauma-informed services to children and families. Attendees will learn how referrals are initiated through law enforcement to collaborate with child protective services, schools, domestic violence programs, child advocacy centers, the county attorney's office, and other programs within the community. How each case moves through a coordinated response that includes forensic interviews, medical evaluations, victim advocacy, counseling resources, and ongoing family support will be discussed. The presentation will explain how multidisciplinary team members collaborate to reduce trauma and improve outcomes and share practical strategies that can be adapted in communities of any size. Participants will leave with actionable ideas on building or strengthening cross-agency partnerships, improving referral pathways, and becoming active partners in child advocacy efforts while working with law enforcement in your jurisdiction.	 B. Lynette Russell holds a bachelor's degree in criminal justice and a master's degree in forensic science. During 27 years with the Lincoln Police Department, she has served roles including patrol; Special Victims Unit investigator; criminal investigator, School Resource Officer; and Domestic Violence investigator.

9:00am – 9:45am Ardis Ballroom	Conference Opening &amp; Jenn McNally, Keynote  We hope you’ll join us for a warm welcome from Corrie Kielty, Nebraska CASA Executive Director, and a meaningful and engaging keynote with Jen McNally, as she brings her timely message— Better. Together. — to life.  Let’s be honest: most "teamwork" sessions feel like a group project where you end up doing all the work, or a meeting that could have been a very short email. It’s time to stop treating collaboration like a 'have to' and move to the power of 'get to.' In Better. Together , it’s about working smarter, avoiding the hero-complex burnout, and realizing that none of us is as smart—or as funny—as ALL of us!	 Jen McNally is a national speaker and Director of Mental Health & Wellness with 20+ years of experience in residential, outpatient, and educational settings. She oversees mental health programming for students and educators across Nebraska ESUs.

B. Working with GAL Attorneys as Advocates: Their Responsibilities and How to Collaborate Effectively, Michelle Paxton. J.D.

Guardian ad Litem (GAL) attorneys serve a unique dual role in Nebraska’s juvenile court acting as both legal counsel and best interests advocate for children. This session provides a practical overview of the GAL’s statutory responsibilities and courtroom duties, while focusing on strategies for effective collaboration with parents’ counsel, county attorneys, and child welfare professionals. Participants will gain tools to strengthen communication, reduce conflict, and promote child-centered, high-quality advocacy in juvenile cases.

B. Michelle Paxton is the Founder and Director of the NE Children’s Justice and Legal Advocacy Center (NCJC) and an Assistant Professor at the University of Nebraska College of Law.

C. Crouch Room

C. Real Colors Personality Workshop Part I, Jackie Cervantes-Guzman

Join us here to start this journey with us. Real Colors is such a wonderful way to see the world through a brand-new lens, helping you celebrate your own unique strengths while discovering the amazing traits in those around you.

C. Jackie Cervantes-Guzman earned a Bachelor of Science degree from UNL with a major in Elementary Education. After earning a master’s degree in education, she began her 20-year career with the UNL Extension first as a Positive Youth Development Educator then an Early Childhood.

D. Devaney Room

D. Jason Varga is the Executive Director for Cause Collective in Lincoln, a local membership agency that strengthens other nonprofits so they can better serve the community. Previously, Jason has spent twenty-five years working for other nonprofits.

Because this is a two-part experience, we ask that you join us for both Part I and Part II. This ensures we can build that solid foundation for a strong, connected team together in a way that’s fun, interactive, and truly meaningful. We can’t wait to dive in with you!

D. Non-Profit Board 101, Part II, Jason Varga & Dawn Rockey

Welcome back! We’re so excited to have you join us for the second half of our journey. This session is a true continuation of the wonderful conversations we started in Nonprofit Board 101, Part I, so we’ll be picking up right where we left off.

D. Dawn Rockey joined CASA for Lancaster County as Executive Director in December 2006. Dawn came to CASA with a background in state government and commercial banking. She has a bachelor’s degree from UNL in international Affairs.

Together, we’ll walk through the rest of the board’s essential responsibilities and make sure there’s plenty of time for all your thoughtful questions. It’s going to be a great way to wrap up everything we’ve learned!
